

Call the Nation to Prayer (CTNTP) - 'As One' – Saturday 29th September 2018

Morning Gathering – Old Coventry Cathedral Ruins

Prayer, Together As One – as read by CTNTP Team member, Jo Ognjanovic

Today we choose to come to You, our reconciling God,

Together as one.

May we carry your blessing to the nation.

We gather here today in Your city of peace and reconciliation (pause).

We come from many places, many backgrounds, with many voices, thoughts, hopes and dreams; representing a kaleidoscope of human diversity.

We acknowledge that our world is one in which there are many divisions. We are sorry and repent.

Today we choose to come to You, our reconciling God,

Together as one.

May we carry your blessing to the nation.

As Your people we acknowledge that there is often division within Your Church. Where disunity amongst Your people has been the result of conflict concerning denominations, doctrine, theology, churchmanship and worship styles, we are sorry and repent.

Bring Your peace and reconciliation within Your Church.

Today we choose to come to You, our reconciling God,

Together as one.

May we carry your blessing to the nation.

As Your people we acknowledge the division within Your church concerning those with an emphasis on the Word of God and those with an emphasis on the Spirit of God.

We are sorry and repent.

Today we choose to come to You, our reconciling God.

Together as one.

May we carry your blessing to the nation.

We long for revival in our nation and ask that You would fulfill Your promise given us in the Smith Wigglesworth prophecy of 1947.

Give us patient hope and expectant hearts that You will pour out Your Holy Spirit, that many would come to know Jesus Christ, Your Word made flesh, as Lord and Saviour.

Today we choose to come to You, our reconciling God,

Together as one.

May we carry your blessing to the nation.

Lord, release the biggest revival and blessing that our nation has ever known.

May we, Your people, carry with us Your peace and reconciliation from this city today to be released in ever increasing measure across our nation, from the heart of the nation.

Today we choose to come to You, our reconciling God,

Together as one.

May we carry your blessing to the nation.
